Quarterly Update

- First quarter Building Products deal volume remained in line with 2022 levels. Strategic and financial acquirers continued to drive the majority of deal volume.
- Saint-Gobain, an active acquirer within the construction and industrial markets, recently announced it has an agreement to purchase UP Twiga, a manufacturer of glasswool insulation. This acquisition strengthens Saint-Gobain's market share in the light construction and sustainable construction subsectors.
- EdgePoint's Building Products Index has been outperforming the S&P 500 index throughout the first quarter of 2023. This can be attributed to the market finally adjusting to rising interest rates.
- Despite a forecasted recession and rising inflation, the U.S. Consumer Confidence Index rose slightly in February 2023.
- EdgePoint expects deal volume in the Building Products subsector to remain below historical levels throughout 2023 due market volatility resulting from rising interest rates and tightening credit markets. Key issues to watch include the economic impact of the collapse of SVB, and how the Fed will choose to handle future rate increases.
